WILL REGULATE THE SALOON BUSINESS

The Tribune in receipt of a long circular letter from the National Model License League which has been sent to every mayor in the United States. This league proposes to regulate the saloons and make them better. Four things that they recommended are as follows:

First. That all licenses must be renewed so long as the holder is not convicted the second time of the violation of law and the business is not prohibited by a vote of the people.

Second. The licenses issued in the future shall not be in excess of one license for each five hundred of population.

Third. That the license shall be reasonable, fair and just and not represent a penalty.

Fourth. That for the first conviction by a jury of the violation of law the license shall be suspended for thirty days and the place closed for that period; and for the second like conviction the license shall be cancelled, and the holder never again licensed to retail liquor in that city.

Among the things they claim would occur by the enforcement of these four items would be the following:

The permanent license will remove the saloonkeeper from politics, for the political boss could no longer cancel his right to do business; it would be a valuable asset and especially if limited in number as suggested, and the holder of such a license would hesitate a long time before he would invite its destruction by violating a law.

The mandatory penalty which no judge could set aside would do away with the farce of minimized penalties which are generally imposed and which are merely an invitation to further disobedience.

Under most of our license laws the profits incident to the violation of law are so great as compared with the penalties imposed that the one thought of the saloonkeeper in his fierce struggle for existence is to get around the law, but under Model License the saloonkeeper's own thought would be to obey law.

HUDSON SCHOLARS WIN THE DEBATE

The debate held on Friday evening at the Lincoln high school between Hudson and Grand Rapids, was won by Hudson, the judges giving the visitors the winning end of it by a vote of two to one.

Hudson was ably represented by Miss Anna Johnson and Messrs. Laurens Bradley and V. Sullivan, while Messrs. George Hill, Jr., Claire Williams and Donald Johnson were the representatives from the local school.

The judges were from out of town, they being Prof. M. R. Small and P. R. Crow of Oshkosh and Prof. Hippelst of Stevens Point.

The subject for debate was: "Resolved, That the election of legislative bodies chosen upon a population basis, a proportional system of representation whereby parties are represented according to their numerical strength would be preferable to the present system."

Grand Rapids had the affirmative and Hudson the negative. Both sides put up an able and well prepared argument, but it was evident that Hudson had the best of the debate and that they were entitled to the decision.

Will Go to Wausau.

The Grand Rapids band has about completed the arrangements to play at the convention of commercial men that will be held at Wausau the first week in June. The band has been engaged to go up on Friday, June 3d.

SMALL STOCKHOLDER HADN'T A LOOK IN

Developments in the past have led people to conclude that there was money in the insurance business. It did not seem to matter what kind of an insurance business it was nor how it was conducted, there seemed to be money in it. So when it was proposed to organize a million dollar company in Milwaukee and sell the stock through the state and give everybody a share in the filthy lucre, it was thought that there would be an abundance of buyers, and this was no mistake. The agent did not have to tell anything about the big money that was made in the insurance business, for everybody had read about the investigations and knew there was money in it. And there was.

But most of the money so far appears to have been made by R. P. Fry, who was to be president of the company. When it came time to organize the company, the insurance commissioner then took a hand and looked over the matter. As long as they did not organize, he had nothing to do with the matter, but when they tried to do business under the laws of the state, then he had a right to glance over the books.

What he found was not calculated to cause the small stockholder to feel so sure that he was going to reap a big profit. It appears that stock had been sold to the sum of $562,318.66, and that of this amount $28,203.56 had been paid out in commissions, and that R. P. Fry received $54,217.59 for his work in the matter. When they named it The Old Line company, they certainly hit the nail square on the head, for that is the way the old line companies used to do business. Twenty or thirty of our neighbors and friends here in Grand Rapids hold a few shares of the stock.

There were a couple of agents of the company in this city only a few weeks ago. One of them was a boyhood friend, and he explained to us that while the sale of stock had been discontinued and that it was impossible for any ordinary man to get any for love or money, that he would set aside the by-laws temporarily and let us have a few dollars worth, whatever amount we could scrape up or borrow. He explained fully how it was a dead end, and there was a time when we were tempted to desert the ranks of the working class and become one of the idle rich, but not having any money, we decided to stay with the majority.

Sometimes when a fellow thinks he is on the ground floor he later discovers that there are two basements and a cellar under him.

Circuit Court Convenes Monday.

The regular May session of the circuit court meets on Monday next with Judge Webb presiding. Following is a list of the criminal cases:

State vs. W. H. Nugent, embezzlement.

State vs. Wm. Stollmacher and August Biskay, assault with intent to murder.

State vs. Gustav Sieg, abandonment.

State vs. Andrew Hanson, abandonment.

State vs. Adam Wilhelm, killing dog.

There are thirty-two cases of issues of fact for the jury, seven cases of issues of fact for the court and three cases of issues of law for the court. There are also three default cases, indicating that it will be a long term if all of the cases are tried out.

Death of James McCarthy.

James McCarthy, one of the old residents of Grand Rapids, died at his home in this city on Monday, May 2, after an illness of considerable length. He had an attack of pneumonia a year ago last winter, after which he never regained his former health.

Deceased was born in St. Bastille, Canada, June 12, 1841, and was consequently in his 68th year. He was married in this city in 1883 to Miss Mary McGuire, and is survived by his wife and two daughters, the latter being Misses Elizabeth and Mona.

The funeral occurred this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter and Paul church, Rev. Wm. Reding officiating.

Monthly Stock Fair.

—The next monthly stock fair will be held on Tuesday, May 10 on the east side market square. Manager John Bell reports that there is a good demand for all kinds of stock, also good heavy work horses will bring a good price. Parties having old account hand furniture, or articles of any kind to dispose of will do well to haul them to the fair and Mr. Bell will auction them off to the highest bidder at a small commission.

Remember that the brewery will give a keg of beer to the farmer that brings in the most empties on that day.

Broke an Arm.

Carl Lamberton, who has been working at the Holiday garage for some time past, broke his arm on Tuesday while attempting to start an automobile engine. The right arm was broken between the wrist and elbow. A surgeon reduced the fracture and Mr. Lamberton has since been getting along as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

May Build a Home.

The Old Fellows are considering the proposition of buying a piece of property on Second street on which to erect a building for the accommodation of the lodge. While the matter is not settled as yet, it is expected that it will be before long.

At the Baptist Church.

Owing to the absence of Rev. Milne from the city on Sunday, there will be no services in the Baptist church except the Sunday school.

A. E. BENNETT WAS ELECTED CHAIRMAN

The county board met in this city on Tuesday in accordance with the call issued, all the members in the county being present. The board was called to order by O. G. Lindemann, and as this was the first meeting of the new board, the election of a chairman was in order. For this honor there were only two real aspirants, A. E. Bennett from the town of Grammer and O. G. Lindemann of Marshfield. After three ballots Mr. Bennett was declared to be the new chairman.

After the election of a chairman, the bills against the county were read and referred to the proper committees after which an adjournment was taken until two o'clock the afternoon.

The following are the standing committees as appointed by chairman Bennett:

Still Swears by Wisconsin.

O. LeRoux, who had been visiting in Alberta, Canada, for some weeks past, returned to his home in the town of Sherry on Wednesday. Mr. LeRoux said that he had heard so much about western Canada that he thought possibly he was neglecting his duty by not going out to that country and looking it over with a view to locating there provided he found things as represented. After spending several weeks there, he states that he is better satisfied with Wisconsin than ever. They have not been having much of any rain in Alberta this spring, and as a consequence things are pretty dry there, and in some places they are hauling drinking water for ten miles or more.

Mr. LeRoux is of the opinion that a man with twenty acres of land in this part of the country is better off than a man with a quarter section in that country. While he did not see anything in that country that would be an inducement for him to leave Wisconsin, he feels well paid for the trip, it being worth the trouble to find how nicely he is situated here.

Church Convention Here.

The annual convention of the Lemmonville district of the Congregational church will be held in this city commencing this afternoon. A program has been prepared that will occupy all day of today and tomorrow. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the different meetings.

Among those who will speak at the meetings are Rev. Robert Hopkin of Columbus, Miss Lucy Walker of Milton, Miss Anna Larned of Grand View, Tenn., and F. M. Sheldon, superintendent of the state association.

Over at Stevens Point the city authorities are making arrangements to have the prisoners that are confined in the jail there work on the streets. This is the way every city should do, then it would not be such a snap to be confined in the county jail for ten or thirty days, as the case might be. There is always an abundance of work to be done on the streets, those in Grand Rapids could stand a lot of it, and there is no reason why the bums and others who are serving short terms in jail could not do a whole lot of it. It might not be so pleasant for them, and it might be an inducement for them to keep out of jail.

Very Early Vegetables.

J. B. Grignon reports that he gathered a meek of radishes from his garden on the 1st of May. The vegetables were well grown, and if anybody in this locality can beat this record, we would like to hear from them.

Mrs. Edward VanWic returned on Monday from a visit in LaCrosse and Madison.

Major Hendershot, The Original Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock, To Be Here.

The public of Grand Rapids and vicinity will be pleased to learn that Major Hendershot, the drummer boy of the Rappahannock will visit Grand Rapids, Monday, May 9th and give one of his interesting entertainments. Major Hendershot plays the drum as only few, if any, can. His son accompanies him and with a few numbers consisting of local talent, one of the most interesting entertainments of the season will be given. This is to be given in the Methodist church under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of said church.

Baseball Meeting.

The baseball stockholders will hold a meeting at the city hall this evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing. Those having charge of the matter of selling stock report that a total of $1500 has been disposed of and that everything is ready to go ahead as proposed at the commencement.

BIRTHS.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schall on Saturday.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Will Jarvis at Port Edwards on Sunday.

Kruger & Warner Co.
 Are Sole Agents in This City For the Celebrated
Lewis Underwear

This we carry in many different grades and styles. Union suits in full length and long sleeves; union suits in no sleeves and knee lengths; union suits in short sleeves and knee lengths; union suits in short sleeves and full length.

Prices range from $1 a suit to $3 and can furnish better grades up to $25 per suit or higher in silk if needed at $50 per suit.

A Few Important Features Relative to the Construction of LEWIS Underwear Which will Serve as a Basis for comparison with other lines.

1. Every garment is made of the highest grade yarn of its kind procurable. No carded yarn is used in Lewis Underwear. In order to make a combed yarn you must have long fluted cotton. The Lewis Knitting Co. has the reputation in the yarn trade of being purchasers of the best grades of stock only.
2. For trimmings fine count satens are used.
3. Shorter stitches are taken than on any other make of underwear.
4. Nearly all of the thread used for stitching is pure throat silk.
5. All buttons are sewed on with throat silk.
6. All button-holes are made with throat silk.
7. Only first grade buttons are used, no brown backed or split ones. Ocean Pearls are used on our fashioned numbers and are sewed on by hand with silk.
8. The union suit back pieces are so shaped as to entirely cover the seat without gaping.
9. In the center of the crotch of each union suit you will find a button and button-hole which are the most necessary ones on the suit. They are not on other makes of union suits because each extra button and button-hole increases the cost.
10. The cuffs and ankles are so knitted and shaped that they will hold the sleeves and legs of the garments in place.
11. A strap is put on the shoulder of each shirt and union suit which is elastic and yet does not let the garment sag and drop down on the arm.
12. A neck of specially knitted design is put on each shirt and union suit instead of using waste material for this purpose. The former costs more and adds character and style. The latter answers for some and is cheap.
13. Our full fashioned goods are full fashioned throughout, are hand knitted and conform to the lines of the body.
14. Our cut and sewed goods are made on spring needle machines. The latter costs twice as much as latch needle machines; the fabric is firmer; garments made from same, hold their shape better, and wear longer. There are some manufacturers who advertise spring needle goods who have not a spring needle machine in their plant.
15. For twenty-five years Lewis Underwear has been recognized as the highest quality of any made. The makers of Lewis Underwear consider quality first and so are over on the lookout to improve their product while the average manufacturer, with whom "price" is first consideration, is scheming at all times to cut quality so as to meet price.

Broke an Arm.
 Carl Lamberton, who has been working at the Holiday garage for some time past, broke his arm on Tuesday while attempting to start an automobile engine. The right arm was broken between the wrist and elbow. A surgeon reduced the fracture and Mr. Lamberton has since been getting along as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

Death of James McCarthy.
 James McCarthy, one of the old residents of Grand Rapids, died at his home in this city on Monday, May 2, after an illness of several months. He had an attack of pneumonia a year ago last winter, after which he never regained his former health.

Deceased was born in St. Basil, Canada, June 12, 1844, and was consequently in his 66th year. He was married in this city in 1883 to Miss Mary McGee, and is survived by his wife and two daughters, the latter being Misses Elizabeth and Mona.

The funeral occurred this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter and Paul church, Rev. Wm. Reding officiating.

Monthly Stock Fair.
 The next monthly stock fair will be held on Tuesday, May 10 on the east side market square. Manager John Bell reports that there is a good demand for all kinds of stock, also good heavy work horses will bring a good price. Parties having old second hand furniture, or articles of any kind to dispose of will do well to hand them to the fair and Mr. Bell will auction them off to the highest bidder at a small commission.

Remember that the brewery will give a keg of beer to the farmer that brings in the most empties on that day.

Will Make Their PRISONERS WORK.
 Over at Stevens Point the city authorities are making arrangements to have the prisoners that are confined in the jail there work on the streets. This is the way every city should do, then it would not be such a snap to be confined in the county jail for ten or thirty days, as the case might be. There is always an abundance of work to be done on the streets, those in Grand Rapids could stand a lot of it, and there is no reason why the bums and others who are serving short terms in jail could not do a whole lot of it. It might not be so pleasant for them, and it might be an inducement for them to keep out of jail.

Very Early Vegetables.
 J. B. Grignon reports that he gathered a mess of radishes from his garden on the 1st of May. The vegetables were well grown, and if anybody in this locality can beat this record, we would like to hear from them.

Nothing Like a GOOD DISCUSSION.
 There is one thing about a change say it is because Grand Rapids has been selected for the new name. Those who proposed the change took Grand Rapids because it was suggested ten years ago by some of our residents, because it was a sort of a compromise of the names of Centralia and Grand Rapids. It should mean something to the old residents of the two cities.

It might be stated here that there is no use to consider names in two parts such as Centralia, because the postal authorities will not allow a postoffice to be named in that way. Only one word can be used, which does away with a number of suggestions.

One man says he has sent out from town to fifteen letters a day during the last thirty-seven years and "but very few of my letters have gone to Grand Rapids, Michigan." It seems hardly necessary to make any answer to this assertion, however, as we will say that either his statements are inconsistent with strict veracity, or else he has been very fortunate.

Another man is afraid the name Grand Rapids and Dalila will become confused in some way. The last syllable of Grand Rapids is pronounced with long a as in day, while in Dalila the a has the German sound as in far. Even if they did call it Grand Dalila up on Quality Row, it would not hurt anybody. The city might have a worse name than that of a flower.

It does not matter particularly what the new name is, just so it is different, and is not the same as a neighbor's name. When the matter was taken up it was expected that the older residents would oppose the idea. When a man is born in a town and lives there his entire life, it is to be expected that he will have some love for the old town and stick up for it thru thick and thin. As a man gets older he dislikes changes and that the younger generation accept and look forward to, and this applies to the name of a town the same as anything else.

MIGHT PROVE A COSTLY PASTIME.
 One night recently three boys took Attorney Chas. E. Brereton's auto from in front of the opera house and ran it around the block a few times and brought it back, and stood it in front of the opera house again.

The boys apparently did not realize that they were committing a crime punishable by a fine of $50 or a term in the county jail, but when they were caught by a few days later by the chief of police and taken before a justice of the peace, it did not take them long to come to a realization of the facts in the case.

The justice showed them the law on the subject and the boys promised to confine themselves to amusements of a quieter character hereafter and they were allowed to go. Borrowing an automobile without the owners consent is not a very profitable proposition if the owner cares to prosecute the matter.

When Rip Van Winkle Awoke.
 You have all heard the story of poor Rip Van Winkle's sleep. When he went up on the mountain and drank too long and deep; and some of you, perhaps, have seen the play and will recall, Rip's sorrow when old Snyder failed to answer to his call. Then climbing down the mountain side all weary and footsore, he finds at last the home he'd left so many years before. No wife and family greet him—only strangers deem he had. And when he tells his story folks just think he's lost his mind.

But it's his home, he'll swear to that—for still upon the floor, is that same coat of Chi-Namel put on twenty years before. It's no joke, Chi-Namel will outwear any house varnish ever put upon the market, because there's not an ounce of adulteration in it. It's pure stuff and cheapest by the year. Centralia Hdw. Co.

The calm serenity of the city was mightily disturbed Sunday morning of this week when the news of the death of B. R. Tarbox became generally known. His calling away was very sudden. He had been about the city during the day and not until supper time Saturday night did he complain of being unwell. A physician was called in at about 9 o'clock that night and succeeded in getting a quicker and stronger pulse and the patient into a sleep from which he awakened at three in the morning of Sunday. At 1 another call was made and from that time on he gradually weakened until at about 7, after taking a turn about the room he settled into a chair, the spirit flown. Death was due to a fatty degeneration of the heart. Byron R. Tarbox was born June 21, 1858, and was a native of the state of Maine. He was, at his death 51 years, 10 months and 3 days of age. He joined the Union forces in the great struggle of secession. After the war he came to Wisconsin and at Neocosh in the year 1880 was married to Miss Eliza M. Bullis. Four children blessed the union, only two of which survive, Miss Mary Woodless, of this city, and Robt. O. Tarbox, of Tacoma, Wash. A brother in Montana and a sister in California survive him. He came to Pittsville with his family in 1870 and has since resided here, his hearty constitution adapting him to the rough work of the river and the woods in the capacity of foreman for the Lyman Lumber Co. In the earlier days and other time later, the funeral service will be conducted at the Masonic hall, an order of which he has been a member since 1893, at 3 p. m. and at Mount cemetery at 3 p. m. Two other boys went fishing down to the river last Sunday. They had rather poor luck we think. They did not believe that the old proverb was true, that "Sticks don't bite when bullies are fishing." So one of them was going to work a "bluff" on the city people so he bought some fish from a little boy who knew how to fish. But on the way home the purchases fell asleep and the others got hungry so they stopped the team and fried the fish and had a good lunch. Nick says he will go with a better bunch next time.

A case has just been settled in the courts which went against the firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and the evidence brought out in the trial would indicate that this firm has not been doing business in the way that honest merchants are supposed to conduct matters.

This firm had been selling the engines manufactured by Chas. A. Stetkey & Co. and had been fraudulently listing them at a higher horsepower than they were rated by the manufacturers. They were used by the manufacturers and the plaintiffs were given a verdict of over $15,000. By the false listing of the engines Sears, Roebuck & Co., had made from fifteen to twenty dollars additional profit on each engine.

It would not seem as if the public who are in the habit of patronizing mail order houses would need more than one object lesson of this sort before they would conclude that the fellow at home was the better man to trade with. However, there are some people who seem to really on a being skinned if it is only done by a stranger, and it is probable that these people will continue to send out of town for their goods as long as there is anybody to send to.

For some time I suffered from backache, pains across my loins and frequent headaches. I had but little strength or ambition and felt little and languid nearly all the time. WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA.

—Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skin or epidermis, but in the inner skin. Hence, a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.

We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Wintergreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. D. Prescription, at only 25 cents, will instantly relieve the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years, and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons. J. E. Daly.

Harwood M. Bacon, superintendent of division of classification of the postoffice department, gives out the following information on the postal ruling with reference to expired subscriptions to newspapers:

There seems to be a lingering doubt in the minds of some publishers that the rules promulgated by the department will not be enforced, but Mr. Bacon's talk was to the effect that while the department did not desire to inflict any undue hardship on newspapers, at the same time publishers must comply with the department's regulation. Seventeen publishers have been served with citations to appear in Washington, and the privilege of second class pound rates have been withdrawn so far from two papers. The rule provides that subscriptions to weekly papers, 12 months in arrears, will be denied the pound rate, and is for the purpose of cutting off those publishers who put their subscription lists for the sake of obtaining so called subscribers at either a normal rate or no rate at all.

In plain words, the ruling means that subscribers to weekly papers must pay the subscription price before or at the end of the year covering the subscription period.

A special agent has been investigating in Iowa and, in all probability, papers in Wisconsin will be next investigated.

There are a few Tribune subscribers who must pay up or we shall have to discontinue sending them the paper if you fail to receive your copy of the paper you will know the reason. Why not call and pay up right away and avoid the possibility of any embarrassment.

BIRD DAY ANNUAL

A VERY FINE BOOK

The Tribune acknowledges the receipt of a copy of the Wisconsin Arbor and Bird Day Annual which is sent out by Supl. Caray. The book has about one hundred pages and is full of good stuff that is calculated to inspire the reader with a proper spirit for the observance of this day. There are a number of illustrations in the fore part of the book for decorative purposes, and the latter part of it is devoted to a treatise on ornithology, giving descriptions and colored plates of the birds of Wisconsin, making an interesting and instructive part of the publication.

The book is gotten up in such nice shape that it is well worth preserving, and it would seem as the it were worthy of a more permanent binding than has been the custom in the past.

Will be the End of Divisions.

We have it on good authority that when the new line of railroad is completed thru here, that division headquarters will be located on the thousand acre tract of land purchased by the Northwestern road south of town.

The site for the shops and a thirty stall round house have already been located, and the yard tracks will soon be arranged out.

There has been considerable speculation the past few months, where the division headquarters would be located, Wyoville, Neenah and other towns having been mentioned. This move on the company's part disposes of the question.

It will be a great boon to Friendship, and hundreds of railroad men will be brought here by the location of the shops, besides the train cars, and will undoubtedly lead to the building up of the town clear down to the tracks.

This added to the other lines of business that will naturally come here with the building of the road will increase our population many fold in the next few years.—Adams County Press

Starch Factory Busy.

The Hancock starch factory is grinding up about 1000 bushels of potatoes every day, and from present indications will so continue until hot weather incurs. The price paid is 15c per 100 lbs., which of course seems small to the farmers, but yet gives them quite a little ready money for a product that would otherwise now be worthless. A starch factory represents a heavy investment, on which taxes and insurance must be paid whether in use or not, and the repairs and running expenses are also considerable. This factory has had only one run before in five years, and that was a short one three years ago last fall. The price of starch varies, and what is being made now may not be sold in two years. This season's yield is also said to be very light, about 6 1/2 lbs. to the bushel, owing to the tubers not fully maturing last fall.

HOW IT LOOKS TO A MAN ON THE FENCE.

Stevens Point Journal.—There is a new and serious movement on foot at Grand Rapids to change the name of the city to something distinctive. The people of that city are getting overlastingly tired of having their mail, express and freight sent to Grand Rapids, Mich., or Grand Rapids, Minn., to be paved over, sorted out and delayed before they get a chance at it. The name that is now most in favor is Grandulus, a composite word suggested by the combination of the two pioneer cities of Grand Rapids and Centralia. It's a good name and it is hoped someone or some society will take the initiative steps to have the matter settled by the common council or by the vote of the people, whichever is required, at once. It should have been done several years ago when the first combined. Of course, a lot of old timers and mossbacks will raise their hands in horror and take up all sorts of sentimental, historical, commercial and various other kinds of reasons why the name should not be changed but common sense and modern progressiveness demand the change and it should be made at once, "the sooner the quicker."

Within a year after it is made the world will have almost forgotten that there ever was a Grand Rapids except possibly the Oskosh Northwestern. That paper still invariably refers to the Soo line as the Wisconsin Central. It is hard for some folks to absorb a new idea.

Will be the End of Divisions. We have it on good authority that when the new line of railroad is completed thru here, that division headquarters will be located on the thousand acre tract of land purchased by the Northwestern road south of town.

FARMER KILLED INSTANTANEOUSLY

Nekoosa Times.—At about 11:30 today August Klonowski, a farmer whose place is about two and one half miles west of this city, was killed while on his way home, by falling from his seat, the wheels of the wagon passing over and breaking his neck.

The accident occurred on the Wood Farm road about opposite John Spangenberg's residence and several persons in that neighborhood saw the horses start up and the man fall from his seat. Death was instantaneous. He was conveyed to the undertaking rooms of H. H. Voss who prepared the remains for burial.

Mr. Klonowski was about 55 years old and leaves a widow and four grown up children, his home being at home where they have been helping with the farm work.

The place on which the family is living is known as the old Wm. Yustion farm which the deceased purchased some years ago. He was a good farmer and was getting along well.

Outdoor Schools for All Cities.

An "outdoor school" for every city in Wisconsin!

This is the slogan of a new movement started by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in the interest of good health for the tens of thousands of school children of the Badger state.

Statistics gathered by the society show that 70 per cent of all school children are defective in some particular; and 5 per cent are sufferers from consumption, glandular trouble, anemia or are predisposed toward tuberculosis.

By providing an outdoor school in each city the defective children are given the opportunity by the municipality of regaining health without discontinuing their education. The outdoor life which results in a wonderful improvement in the child's capabilities, and a most hopeful progress in school work.

At the solicitation of Mrs. Kander, a member of the School Board, the Association is now preparing the case and planning the cause of the physically handicapped children of school age in Milwaukee.

The cost to the city is insignificant. The School Board is expected to furnish the "school machinery," or one or two teachers and equipment, while outside assistance is obtained to provide for food, clothing, books, etc. In Chicago thirty children were instructed for two months in an outdoor school for about $300 and the results obtained were remarkable in gain of weight, and improved mental physical vigor.

The anti-tuberculosis association will be glad to give all assistance at its command, statistics, figures and advice to any city or school board in Wisconsin desiring to take up the plan for outdoor schools.

Death of Arton Schiller.

Anton Schiller, one of the pioneer farmers of Alford, died at his home on Sunday night after an illness extending over two years, the cause of his death being consumption. Deceased was 68 years of age and had been a resident of Alford for sixteen years. He was born in Switzerland. The funeral takes place this morning from the Catholic church at Alford. He is survived by a wife and seven children.

HOW IT LOOKS TO A MAN ON THE FENCE.

Stevens Point Journal.—There is a new and serious movement on foot at Grand Rapids to change the name of the city to something distinctive. The people of that city are getting everlastingly tired of having their mail, express and freight sent to Grand Rapids, Mich., or Grand Rapids, Minn., to be pawed over, sorted out and delayed before they get a chance at it. The name that is now most in favor is Grandalia, a combination of the two pioneer cities of Grand Rapids and Centralia. It's a good name and it is hoped someone or some society will take the initiative steps to have the matter settled by the common council or by the vote of the people, whichever is required, at once. It should have been done several years ago when the cities first combined. Of course, a lot of old timers and mossbacks will raise their hands in horror and rake up all sorts of sentimental, historical, commercial and various other kinds of reasons why the name should not be changed but common sense and modern progressiveness demand the change and it should be made at once, "the sooner the quicker."

Within a year after it is made the world will have almost forgotten that there ever was a Grand Rapids except possibly the Oshkosh Northwestern. That paper still invariably refers to the 800 line as the Wisconsin Central. It is hard for some folks to absorb a new idea.

Will be the End of Divisions.

We have it on good authority that when the new line of railroad is completed thru here, that division headquarters will be located on the thousand acre tract of land purchased by the Northwestern road south of town.

The site for the shops and a thirty stall round house have already been located, and the yard tracks will soon be surveyed out.

There has been considerable speculation the past few months, where the division headquarters would be located, Weyville, Necedah and other towns having been mentioned. This move on the company's part disposes of the question.

It will be a great boon to Friendship, and hundreds of railroad men will be brought here by the location of the shops, besides the train crews, and will undoubtedly lead to the building up of the town clear down to the tracks.

This added to the other lines of business that will naturally come here with the building of the road will increase our population many fold in the next few years.—Adams County Press.

FARMER KILLED INSTANTANEOUSLY

Nekoosa Times.—At about 11:30 today August Klonsinski, a farmer whose place is about two and one half miles west of this city, was killed while on his way home, by falling from his seat, the wheels of the wagon passing over and breaking his neck.

The accident occurred on the Wood Farm road about opposite John Spangenberg's residence and several persons in that neighborhood saw the horses start up and the man fall from his seat. Death was instantaneous. He was conveyed to the undertaking rooms of H. H. Voss who prepared the remains for burial.

Mr. Klonsinski was about 65 years old and leaves a widow and four grown up children, his sons being at home where they have been helping with the farm work.

The place on which the family is living is known as the old Wm. Yustan farm which the deceased purchased some years ago. He was a good farmer and was getting along well.

Outdoor Schools for all Cities.

An "outdoor school" for every city in Wisconsin!

This is the slogan of a new movement started by the Wisconsin Anti Tuberculosis association in the interest of good health for the tens of thousands of school children of the Badger state.

Statistics gathered by the society show that 70 per cent of all school children are defective in some particular; and 5 per cent are sufferers from consumption, glandular trouble, anemia or are predisposed toward tuberculosis.

By providing an outdoor school in each city the defective children are given the opportunity by the municipality of regaining health without discontinuing their education. The outdoor life which routs disease results in a wonderful improvement in the child's capabilities, and a most hopeful progress in school work.

At the solicitation of Mrs. Kander, a member of the School Board, the Association is now preparing the case and pleading the cause of the physically handicapped children of school age in Milwaukee.

The cost to the city is insignificant. The School Board is expected to furnish the "school machinery," or one of two teachers and equipment, while outside assistance is obtained to provide for food, clothing, books, etc. In Chicago thirty children were instructed for one month in an outdoor school for about $300 and the results obtained were remarkable in gain of weight, and improved mental physical vigor.

The anti tuberculosis association will be glad to give all assistance at its command, statistics, figures and advice to any city or school board in Wisconsin desiring to take up the plan for outdoor schools.

MISS MACKINNON HONORED IN TEXAS

The day of Texas Independence is celebrated every year in San Antonio by the entire state of Texas.

San Jacinto day, April 21, has been held sacred since the year 1837, when a little band of men 700 or 800 won under Gen. Sam Houston a victory over General Santa Anna with his army of 1500 men on San Jacinto day following the fall of the Alamo and loss of some of the greatest heroes of our American history, Davy Crockett, General Travis, Col. Bowie and many others whose lives were sacrificed in the battle of the Alamo 1836.

Port San Houston in San Antonio is the second largest port in the country. Three thousand men are generally stationed there. Situated on a high place of ground overlooking the country for miles around, commanding a fine view, it is an ideal spot for the training of our army. The climate, which is considered so perfect, is a great asset in maintaining all these men in San Antonio, and the port adds much to the brilliancy of the social life there. Texas the largest state in the Union, almost five times the size of any state, certainly has a unique history and has served under six flags. His has a flag of her own, something possessed by no other state, red and white stripes with one white star in blue ground signifying the "Lone Star State." Her first flag was French, then Spanish, Mexican, Texan, Confederate and Union Jack, making six flags.

April 21 was most beautifully celebrated this year. The festivities began on Monday the 18th with a grand concert at the opera house a social event in which many of the local musicians take part. Miss Ellen MacKinnon played two numbers on the violin. Confetti is thrown in the streets. Merry makers play tricks on the passersby and during the entire week the merry voice of the carnival is heard. Everyone is out for pleasure all phases of society take part in making the San Jacinto festival as brilliant and merry as possible. The crowning event of the spring carnival is the grand parade and Battle of Flowers in front of the Alamo on Alamo Plaza.

And thus it comes that once a year, on the anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto, which followed the fall of the Alamo, it is refought. The queen and her court defend the gray old tragic building against an onslaught. Vehicles hidden in bowers of blossoms play the part of embankments, where royalty and those united with her front their strength against invaders. Cannonading is dispensed by the rattle of fragrant leaves; the shriek of shrapnel has given way to the patter of rose leaves; the cry of pain has turned to the voice of gladness. The Alamo falls no more.

This year's pageant has never been surpassed. Floats, carriages, traps and autos were symbols of a time and a season, to be reminiscent of springtime, that period from which there is no better. Roses, the heart of which were beautiful girls, were carried in procession with the queen, drawn through streets and preceded by all the pompous of war as furnished from Port San Houston. Soldiers, infantry and cavalry, were in the line of march, advancing as a guard to the youthful and beautiful queen who presides over the carnival of flowers this year.

The queen's chariot was a solid mass of flowers. Throned, as on a throne, she was seated to smile in grateful recognition of the homage accorded her by her patriotic and loyal people. Gorgeously garbed flunkies, similar to the link boys of old, led the steeds drawing the royal coach, securing a safe passage to her majesty.

Duchesses and Princesses.

Following the august personage came her court, composed of the duchesses and princesses drawn to this City of Promise by the pageantry surrounding the crowning of the queen. These, likewise, were in floral coaches, decorated, massed high with buds and blossoms and lending added charm to the royal entourage. Then came one of the quaint conceits of this year's carnival. Huge roses, cunningly constructed on floats, appeared. In the heart of each sat a womanly bud, representing the type of rose shown. They were the duchesses named from San Antonio. In all, there are a dozen of these beautiful roses.

Came next the decorated floats, traps, carriages. Of these there were many. Artistic designs in decoration were seen. Flowers in profusion.

Miss Wild Says It Is Best.

Miss Jennie Wild, the carnival artist, returns to New Orleans tonight charmed with the place and people of San Antonio, and the great future possibilities in every way of San Antonio. After viewing the flower battle yesterday she declares it to be the finest thing of its kind without doubt, in the country, and feels that San Antonio has made a great stride forward in adopting some scheme of design or meaning in its flower parade, as well as in the manner of introducing the "papier mache" work floats such as are used in the large carnival centers. Though not as perfect as the Carnival association expects to make them in the future, these floats were made here in San Antonio in an incredibly short space of time, two weeks being spent on what generally takes several months to do elsewhere. This is a special line of work, and its construction has to be studied like any other branch, and being a great believer in a city's money being spent within itself, Miss Wild hopes by next year that the San Antonio artists, whose perfection and skill is so evinced in the decoration of the usual style of vehicle, will have become so conversant with the details that San Antonio shall create a new breed and a new standard of great breadth and scope for its most unique festival.

MISS MACKINNON
HONORED IN TEXAS

The day of Texas Independence is celebrated every year in San Antonio by the entire state of Texas.

San Jacinto day, April 21, has been held sacred since the year 1836 when a little band of men 700 or 800 won under Gen. Santa Anna a victory over General Sam Houston with his army of 1500 men on the San Jacinto day following the fall of the Alamo and loss of some of the greatest heroes of our American history.

Davy Crockett, General Travis, Col. Bowie and many others whose lives were sacrificed in the battle of the Alamo 1836.

Port San Houston in San Antonio is the second largest port in the country. Three thousand men are generally stationed there. Situated on a high piece of ground overlooking the country for miles around, commanding a fine view, it is an ideal spot for the training of our army men. The climate, which is considered so perfect, is a great asset in maintaining all these men in San Antonio, and the port adds much to the brilliancy of the social life there. Texas the largest state in the Union, almost five times the size of any other state, certainly has a unique history and has served under six flags. She has a flag of her own, something possessed by no other state, red and white stripes with one white star in blue ground signifying the "Lone Star State." Her first flag was French, then Spanish, Mexican, Texan, Confederate and Union Jack, making six flags.

April 21 was most beautifully celebrated this year. The festivities began on Monday the 18th with a grand concert at the opera house a social event in which many of the local musicians took part. Miss Ellen MacKinnon played two numbers on the violin. Confetti is thrown in the streets. Merry makers play tricks on the passersby and during the entire week the merry voice of the carnival is heard. Everyone is out for pleasure all phases of society take part in making the San Jacinto festival as brilliant and merry as possible. The crowning event of the spring carnival is the grand parade and Battle of Flowers in front of the Alamo on Alamo Plaza.

And thus it comes that once a year, on the anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto, which followed the fall of the Alamo, it is refought. The queen and her court against the gray old tragic building defend an onslaught. Vehicles hidden in bowers of blossoms play the part of ambuscades. Suddenly a spot light flashes on those mounted, where royalty and those united with her front their strength against invaders. Cannonading is displaced by the music of fragrant leaves; the shriek of trumpet has given way to the music of rose leaves; the cry of pain has turned to the voice of gladness. The Alamo falls not today.

This year's pageant has never been surpassed. Flowers, carriages, traps and trunks were symbols of a time and a season, to be reminiscent of springtime, that period than which there is no better. Roses, the heart of which were beautiful girls, were carried in procession with the queen, drawn through streets and preceded by all the pomp of war as furnished from Fort Sam Houston. Soldiers, infantry and cavalry, were in the line of march, advancing as a guard to the youthful and beautiful queen who presides over the carnival of flowers this year.

The queen's chariot was a solid mass of flowers. Thereon, as on a throne, she was seated to smile in grateful recognition of the homage accorded her by her patriotic and loyal people. Gorgeously garbed and flanked, similar to the link boys of old, led the steeds drawing the royal coach, securing a safe passage to her majesty.

Duchesses and Princesses.

Following the august personage came her court, composed of the duchesses and princesses drawn to this City of Promise by the pageantry surrounding the crowning of the queen. These, likewise, were in floral coaches, decorated, massed high with buds and blossoms and lending added charm to the royal entourage.

Then came one of the quaint conceits of this year's carnival. Huge roses, cunningly constructed on floats, appeared. In the heart of each sat a womanly bud, representing the type of rose shown. They were the duchesses named from San Antonio. In all, there are a dozen of these beautiful roses.

Came next the decorated floats, traps, carriages. Of these there were many. Artistic designs in profusion.

Miss Wild Says It Is Best.

Miss Jennie Wild, the carnival artist, returns to New Orleans tonight charmed with the place and people of San Antonio, and the great future possibilities in every way of San Antonio. After viewing the flower battle yesterday she declares it to be the finest thing of its kind without doubt, in the country, and feels that San Antonio has made a great stride forward in adopting some scheme of design or meaning in its flower parade, as well as in the manner of introducing the "papier mache" work floats such as are used in the large carnival centers. Though not as perfect as the Carnival association expects to make them in the future, these floats were made here in San Antonio in an incredibly short space of time, a few weeks being spent on what generally takes several months to do elsewhere. This is a special line of work, and its construction has to be studied like any other branch, and being a great believer in a city's money being spent within itself, Miss Wild hopes by next year that the San Antonio artists, whose perfection and skill is so evinced in the decoration of the usual style of vehicle, will have become so conversant with its details that San Antonio shall create a new place and a new standard of great breadth and scope for its most unique festival.

Following the parade came the Coronation of the Queen at Beethoven Hall, a quaint ceremony carried out with all the pomp of a real coronation. Then follows the coronation ball.

San Jacinto Cortillon

The glorious day of San Jacinto came to a brilliant close last evening with the entertainment given by the San Jacinto Club at the St. Anthony Hotel. This semi-patriotic and prominent social club entertained last evening with one of the most elaborate functions ever given by it or any other club of the city.

The hall was resplendent in brilliant lights that shone from a drop ceiling of asparagus fern.

On the marble wainscoting around the entire room were growing Easter lilies and small palms.

In the spacious foyer adjoining the ball room stood the receiving line, who with gracious hospitality, welcomed the guests, which included the Queen of the Carnival, her entire court and the club members and friends.

Gen. Albert L. Myer and Col. F. L. Towne president of the club assisted by ladies and gentlemen of the reception committee.

A description of the queen and her coronation robes will probably be of interest to our readers.

"Her royal Majesty, Nana of the House of Davenport, Queen of the Carnival!" With measured tread and gracefully bearing right regally she passed down the aisle and as she passed her throne. Her costume was beautiful. Over a white satin gown was a magnificent overdrapery of white marquisette heavily embroidered in gold roses encrusted with brilliants.

A deep fall of gold fringe ornamented the lower skirt, and falling from her shoulders was a long court train of cloth of gold. In one hand she bore a golden scepter set with brilliants and she also carried one gorgeous long stemmed American beauty rose, her chosen flower. The dazzling effect was completed by the tall crown of brilliants which matched the regulation court jewels of necklaces and pendants, and a grille encircled with its cascade of strung jewels falling down the front of her gown.

The club programs were monogrammed in a chaste lettering "S. J. C." Eight straight dances preceded the supper hour.

In the tapestry room were placed numerous small tables, which were prettily decorated with spring roses and frees. A course supper was served.

A cotillon, comprising several pretty figures, was led by Arthur Wynne and Miss Ellen MacKinnon of Wisconsin. The room was dark when the dancers re-entered after supper. Suddenly a spot light flashed on a pretty electric motor which appeared from the end door, being occupied by the Queen of the Carnival, Miss Nana Davenport, and Miss MacKinnon. Around the room the machine proceeded, with a number of men following in its wake. In the center it stopped and the occupants, assisted by Mr. Wynne, distributed pretty favors, consisting of many colored automobile bonnets for the girls and motor caps for the men.

A flag figure then followed. A tall pole from which fell numbers of streamers of red, white and blue, was placed in the center of the room. The men and girls approached from opposite ends of the room four abreast. When the pole was reached the streamers were held while a May pole dance was enjoyed at the orchestra played the "Grand Old Flag" from "George Washington Jr."

An amusing figure was then introduced with the man appearing at one side of the wall in ballet costumes. The girls selected their partners from the fancy dancers.

Perhaps the prettiest figure of the evening was the palm dance that followed. The girls with flowered sashes marched and the men with long palm leaves marched down the hall. The men, holding high the palm through which the girls preceded, while a moonlight effect from above streamed down in golden rays upon the lovely scene. "The Palms" was played to waltz time.

The closing figure was a merry jingle, indeed, with brass rings on the girls' fingers and elastic bands filled with bells were on their feet. The men from behind threw rainbow-hued serpentine ribbons over them. "Rings On the Fingers and Bells On the Toes" was played.

The real favors of the evening were distributed. They were exquisite blue and gold enameled hats with the club monogram inscribed in the center for the girls, and watch fobs for the men of similar design.

Miss MacKinnon, who led the cotillon with Mr. Wynne, was most beautifully gowned in pink chiffon worn over pink satin and trimmed with delicate white lace. She wore a splendid corsage of pink roses.

The honor of leading chosen queen and is generally given to a Texas girl. The fact that Miss MacKinnon is a northern girl and was given this place of honor over all the young ladies of Texas is a great honor for Wisconsin and Grand Rapids.
